Luminor Bank

Issuer review · 1H2026

Analysis date: 2026-10-22
Rating: Moody's - affirmed after the OTP announcement (grade to be confirmed; 2025 annual report refers to 'current A2 rating')[1,2]
Next report: 3Q 2026 interim report - expected November 2026

Position OK. Capital and liquidity are well above requirements, and Moody's kept the rating after the OTP Bank deal was announced[1]. Profit fell about a fifth[3]. The 7.75% bond XS2633112565 was redeemed in June 2026 and is no longer outstanding[4,5].

Past plans vs outcomes

Plan / target	Outcome	What changed and why	Status
Issue senior non-preferred bonds while keeping the current A2 rating (2025 annual report)	EUR 500m SNP issued in 1H 2026; Moody's affirmed the rating[2,1]	Met: EUR 500m SNP issued at MS+1.28% while a EUR 300m senior bond at MS+4.471% was redeemed, so funding became cheaper[5].	Met
Reduce CET1 capital by EUR 200.0m (approval received 2026-07)	Planned for Q4 2026[8]	New plan: the ECB approved it on 2026-07-17. Capital is well above requirements (CET1 19.6%), so excess capital is returned[8].	In progress
Owners: Blackstone-led consortium (80.05%) and DNB (19.95%) (2025 annual report)	Sale to OTP Bank (100%) announced 2026-07-20, approvals pending[20,21]	Changed: the owners agreed to sell 100% to OTP Bank; Moody's affirmed the rating and outlook after the announcement[7].	Revised

Investor information & conclusions

- Instruments held: two senior preferred bonds, 4.042% 2028 (issuer call at par 2027-09-10) and 3.551% 2029 (call 2028-06-12), and a 7.375% perpetual bond[22,23,24]. The 7.75% 2027 bond XS2633112565 had a call date of 2026-06-08 and Luminor redeemed this EUR 300m bond in 1H 2026, so it is no longer outstanding[4,5].

- For bondholders: capital and MREL buffers are well above requirements and liquidity has increased. The EUR 200m CET1 reduction will lower the buffer; the bank does not state the impact on the CET1 ratio in the sources[5].
- OTP deal: Moody's kept the rating and outlook after the announcement, so there is no rating impact so far[1]. Both held senior bonds can be called by the issuer at par, in 2027 and 2028[22,23].
- Conclusion: profitability is declining (1H profit −21%), but capital, MREL and liquidity have large buffers. The key event for holders is the change of owner to OTP. Watch: 3Q report, OTP deal approvals, the Q4 capital reduction.
